

About Dorothy Rainer

Dorothy Rainer is the “quilt maker” for the crafts included in/on the Web page, “A Stitch of Time”. Besides the displayed crafts, she has constructed other art forms in the areas of pencil sketching, oil and acrylic painting, and wedding accessories (ring-bearer pillows, veils, etc.)

These crafts have long been a hobby of hers; and in carrying on the tradition, her daughter also dabbles in delicate and intricate needle-stitch – as well as upholstering old wing chairs and the like.

At this time, Dorothy continues to ply these skills toward completing the quilts of her grand-children among other special projects; and now, some great-grandchildren as well...

I ask her some time ago about why she spends a lot of time (and talent) on these crafts; her reply was that it was rewarding and redeeming – a token of love with lasting expression.
